YARD - DARTMOUTH

A close-up of a Yale knot hole. The knot is a complex, multi-looped structure. In the center of the knot is a small, dark, star-shaped hole. A tag with the word "YALE" is attached to the right side of the knot. An arrow points to the knot hole from the left.

SEARCH ON FOR TO-DAY COLDEST
COUNT TO STOP YET THIS FA

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 12.—Frenzied search for that her husband has been solved by the Russian government. Countess Teislto has twice tried to commit suicide since the Count's disappearance.

On October 10, Countess has been in contact with the FBI and contacted twice at Yonkers by a man who tried to get through holes cut in the ice over a lake, but was rescued just in time to save her life.

That he lets the Count's disappearance be his life's home at Yonkers. He left early on the morning of October 10, telling no one of his destination, but leaving

For some time the fatal has been the press weapons a general strike which has been a disappointment to the masses and announced himself as a general strike weary of the world. He had talked of seeking out a lonely spot and there await death in serenity except for the presence of the police. He was a man of a certain type that the fears of the "Countess" that the government has seized her husband and doomed him to solitary confinement are unfounded.

...and not backbite in political circles of late and the he is no reason, apparently, why it should take action against him now.

Idol of Russian Masses

Count Tolstoy is one of the world's best known writers, and is regarded by Russians their greatest living author. He is as famous in America as in his native land. He is of noble family, and in his gushed himself as a young officer in the Grimsby war. For many years he has been opposed to militarism and a believer in universal peace among nations. He has written and spoken in favor of a Liberal, advanced government for Russia, but has never believed in the Nikhols school of force.

Although a nobleman and a large landed proprietor, he has, to the dismay of his family, dressed and lived like a peasant to show his sympathy for the workers. Although he was written with exuding boldness for a man living in a remote country, he has never been arrested by the government. Even the spokesmen of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union are the idol of the masses of Russia. He is a devout Christian and believes that the Christian spirit should be put in everything. He has for many years been the hero of the Soviet people in all things. He is eighty-two years old.

Two such evenly matched teams have not met here this year, and the vast throng of 38,000 spectators who had snapped up every available seat in the vast amphitheatre waited in breathless expectation as the big elephants of the East came together in their struggle to the finish.

Joe ("Sporting") Sullivan, the well known Boston reporter man, offered any part of the money to any of the few sailors in sight, and with other of the wise men fairly hailed the local betting market in favor of Liverpool.

Unfortunately, for some reason, and not seen to warm up the odds and short money, the crowd always in evidence upon Sullivan and Joe's street

A number of students in the audience were disappointed at a single touchdown, but there was even a security of this kind of betting.

At 12 o'clock the official press betting centre all over town was 10 to 4 and no takers.
